Bringing Life to Our Ancestors Manuscript Collections with Jeanne Bloom

Audience Question:

Q: This day of webinars is sooooo cool!

A: Sure is. So glad to be able to be involved in it. BCG and the FHL are great to work with!!

Audience Question:

Q:and he has perfect penmanship!

A: :)

Audience Question:

Q: Thanks to the AWESOME presenters, BCG, Family History Library, Geoff and Legacy for making these WONDERFUL workshops available to us today

A: Smiles!!!

Audience Question:

Q: The 4 page handouts each genealogist has made are so very helpful. So clear, etc.

A: Yes, so glad to have them here for everyone.

Audience Question:

Q: i went to springville last week and was able to white glove hold a family bible of my 3rd great grandmother that was donated, she was 1799-1863, such a thrill

A: Wow, congrats!

Audience Question:

Q: Audio is great in this one, nice job.

A: Yes it is. Restarted the Family History Library's router and plugged in. Cross your fingers.

Geoff Rasmussen (to All - Entire Audience): 3:54 PM: NUCMC - must be important, eh? We've heard about it twice today now. National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections

Audience Question:

Q: Occupation related materials are great. The best obit I have for an ancestor was in a journal for civil engineers. I found it in Google Books

A: Congrats!!

Geoff Rasmussen (to All - Entire Audience): 4:00 PM: Also check out Melissa Barker's 5-webinar series. She is a full-time archivist - <http://familytreewebinars.com/melissabarker>

Audience Question:

Q: Will I be able to watch this and the next 2 webinars online later, they just put us under tropical storm warning here and I'm going to miss the next 2 webinars and the rest of this one

A: Yes, the webinars' recordings will be available at www.familytreewebinars.com/bcg later this weekend. Good luck in the storms.

Audience Question:

Q: Tip: Be sure to ask an archive how many people are allowed at one time. Recently, two of us went to an archive and learned that only one person was allowed in at a time.

A: Interesting...

Audience Question:

Q: Yeah KU - I was at this library Jeanne is showing during when my son was there (2005-2010)! Rock Chalk Jayhawks - go KU! :)

A: :)

Geoff Rasmussen (to All - Entire Audience): 4:13 PM: Other webinars by Jeanne Bloom:
